

Kay Ridler to Retire

After over 22 years of loyal service to Leigh Christou, in her capacity as the Personal Tax Manager, Kay has decided to take early retirement at the end of March 2019.

Needless to say, we will all miss her cheery personality and her knowledge of personal tax, which came through many years of dealing with HMRC. When she joined us, Kay had worked for the Revenue and brought this invaluable expertise to her role.

Kay is handing over the reins to our new Personal Tax Manager, Hannah Payne, who has been working alongside Kay for almost three months and has already a good insight into the role.

Kay has made such a valuable contribution to the firm in her time with us, but we hope she will miss us almost as much as we will miss her!
